Palo Alto High School's Ron Larrieu, who only last week clipped four seconds off the national interscholastic record for the two-mile, broke the 880 mark in last Saturday's King City Invitational track meet at King City.

Larrieu covered the distance in 1:57.1 to break a 20-year-old standard.

The meet, attracting some 500 athletes from 20 high schools, was the 15th in a series begun by the King City Chamber of Commerce in 1927.
