BOYS Inside Dopes

Sprints — North Salinas' Anthony Toney looks unbeatable in the 200 and will put his second effort in trying to upset favorite Harry Campbell of Mt. Pleasant in the 400. Toney, who's also running on the school's 400 relay team, will most likely scratch the 100, where Eric Washington (Woodside) and Ken Smith (Palo Alto) will continue their duel from the Region II meet. The top three picks in the 100 were within .14 of each other in the Gilroy Invitational, and the top four in the 200 were within .13.

Middle distances — Benny Trujillo of Gilroy will be attempting to put his name next to Los Altos' Rick Brown as the only athletes to win the same event three years in a row. In this case it's the 800 (not the 880) and Los Gatos' Scott Oliver is anxious to put his name in the books for the first time. The score between them is Oliver 2, Trujillo 1 with all of the wins coming on home tracks; this will be the first time they've met on a neutral oval and Oliver recorded his best time at SJCC. Close is the word in 1,600, with the battle for first looking as tight as that for the third and final spot to the state meet, and Independence's Jesse Torres should take the first berth in the 3,200.

Hurdles — The highs could have the closest margin of victory, with the foursome from Region I dominating the Accutrak photo-finish picture (hopefully, the timing system won't pick this event to malfunction on). At the Top Eight Invitational, first place was 14.4 and fifth was 14.5. Jefferson's Robert Thompson (sixth last year) hasn't lost to Hillsdale's John Zukowsky, the CCS leader, in the four times they've met in the last two years. Contrary to the race in the highs, the lows may have the biggest winning margin, with Gilroy's Ronnie Seanez the solid pick to lead it.

Relays — The heart of the team battle, as usual, will rest here. Mt. Pleasant looks unbeatable in both, but Silver Creek broke the ice two weeks ago in the Mt. Hamilton League finals, winning the 440 by .7 in a CCS best. Woodside is the only team among the favorites that runs its fastest leg (in this case, Washington) on the anchor. Smith (Palo Alto), Campbell (Mt. Pleasant) and Sterling (Silver Creek) all run the second leg (backstretch). The Cardinals look less vulnerable in the 1,600 with Woodside the only team that should challenge.

Vertical jumps — Palma's Dan Iloff and North Salinas' Joe Hicks (both 6-10 last year) should bring the Battle of Salinas to San Jose in the form of a high jump. Piedmont Hills' Jim Quirke, who has gone 6-6 and isn't doped to place (but realistically could) is the owner of a unique approach which he calls the "Quirke screw." It has Quirke running straight to the bar and within three feet turning completely around into a "flop" position. The CCS pole vault competition may have just as many as or more 15-footers than the state meet and Greg Ellis of Menlo-Atherton will probably have more trouble defending his CCS crown than he had attaining it — Ben Mahoney (St. Francis) and D.J. Bahl (Avalon) will probably be with him vault-for-vault. Darkhorse of the meet may be Ayer's Alan Janke (14-6 the last two weeks). The surest bet is that at least one place will be decided on fewer misses.

Horizontal jumps — In the long jump, Buchser's Ralph Lumacdot (fourth last year) has beaten Palo Alto's Smith three times, but Smith has the momentum of beating Lumacdot at the Region II and Santa Clara Valley League meets. Triple jumper Victor Torres of Silver Creek is due for a win in "qualifying" competition. Yerba Buena's Leonard Robinson beat him by an inch at the MHL meet and YB's Ken Taylor (second in last year's frosh-soph meet to teammate Donnie Sample) won by a half-inch at the Region III meet. More than any other event, the triple jump won't be at a loss for surprises.

Weights — Consistency is lacking, but those who have it are Rey Mendizabal (Gunderson) and Ray Bellantoni (Del Mar) in the shot put and Dave Nagengast (Del Mar) in the discus. Gunn's Dave Cowell (third last year) is successfully coming back from a back injury that kept him out early in the year. Del Mar's Tim Sutro is most likely to "pop" the longest throws.

Team comments — All of Mt. Pleasant's firepower is shown except for Bobby Lister (100, 200) and Felix Soto (3,200); any points from them or higher finishes from Greg Marshall (triple jump) or Harry Campbell (200) will only aid their cause. Palo Alto's strength will ride on Ken Smith (100, 200, long jump, 400 relay) and Rod M. Green (400, 800, both relays), the brother of former Cubberley star Bill Green. (It's possible Green may scratch the 800 and put all his marbles in the 400, where he's potentially dangerous.) Mike McCollum (3,200) scoring high will help, as will points from Kent Eaton (high jump, 6-4 last two weeks) and Frank Chenn (long jump, second in region to Smith). Woodside has Washington (100, 200, both relays) and sophomore Willie Williams (300 LH, both relays) scoring, and unscored Thomas Harris (14.5 in 110 HH) and Tim Redick (38.4 in 300 LH, same section as Williams) to their credit. If there's a team with the most potential, it's Woodside. Del Mar has Troy Christy (100) on the track, but any other points will come from the vault and weights. Silver Creek, another potentially tough team, has its power in the sprints, relays and jumps. North Salinas has Toney and Hicks scoring and a few other unscored competitors, including discus thrower Dave Vazquez (165-11 in region).

GIRLS

Inside dope

Sprints — Live Oak's Gurtha Pounds (just a sophomore) and San Carlos' Rhonda Robinson should be neck-and-neck in both races, Robinson getting the nod in the 200 by virtue of experience (second last year). Fremont's Sherrill Miller (another sophomore) should successfully defend her 400 title, coming off a big win in toughest of regions (Region II).

Middle distances — First-out-of-the-gates Kerry Brogan of Los Altos may be beginning to wear, and the fate of the 1,600 and 3,200 will depend on her performance in the 800 (if she runs well, she'll skip the 3,200; if not, she'll skip the 1,600). Brogan may be the only thing in Roxanne Bier's (Independence) way of attaining her fourth two-mile/3,200-meter championship. Ayer's Maria King (you guessed it: another sophomore) looks to be in fine shape for the projected double, but the competition will be with her — mainly in the form of defending mile champ Tracy Weber (Lynbrook). Gunn's Esther Berndt (a 15-year-old sophomore) and Prospect's Amy Harper (who's of a rare breed: a senior) will be in contention for state berths in the 1,600 and 3,200, respectively. (Eight runners are doped in the 1,600 because of Brogan's situation and Carlmont's Linda Jungsten's, which may find her saving all her strength for the Scots' favored 1,600 relay; seven are doped in 3,200, again for Brogan's situation.)

Hurdles — It looked like Mary Crevelt (St. Francis) and Kathy Reimann (Saratoga) before the season started and it looks as though only Gunn's Gretcher Mills can separate the two now, as she did in last week's very tough Region II race.

Relays — A good battle in the 400, but Carlmont should run away with the 1,600 crown. Although San Carlos was absent, San Mateo won the Top Eight Invitational 400 over Saratoga and Overfell in the CCS best of 48.9.

Jumps — Menlo-Atherton's Trish King has recovered very well from her ankle injury in February, but Fremont's Karen Robinson has improved at almost the same rate. King won by two inches in the Region II meet, but it could be closer Friday. Ayer's Tammie Sullivan topped the best region long jump field (Region III), but fourth place was just 5/4 inches back, displaying the tightness of the field.

Weights — Silver Creek's Stephanie Townsel isn't at the same form she was earlier in the year because of a shoulder injury, but she, like so many in the meet, is just a sophomore. Westmoor's Carolyn Perkins took advantage of the 25-mph "breeze" in the Region I meet and uncorked a 141-6 effort, labeling her as the favorite in the discus. Cindi Durschlag (San Carlos) has fared well against tough competition and should take the shot.

Team comments — San Carlos (Robinson in sprints, Durschlag in weights, 400 relay) looks like a solid favorite. Ayer's hopes are with King and Sullivan, and it might not get our projected total since they received the most liberal of our handouts. Fremont looks like the only team that could challenge (unscored is Robinson in 100 and 400 relay team, which drew the best lane, four, in the "slow" section, although they'll be running against Los Gatos and Camden); they look especially strong for improvements in 1,600 relay and high jump.

Top Track & Field, Swimming Marks

w—wind-aided

Note: The first mark in parentheses following event is current all-time Central Coast Section best; the second mark is the tenth best. A number followed by 'AT' after a mark refers to that athlete's ranking in the top ten (e.g., 6th AT). If an athlete has a mark from a previous year already in the top ten, and he/she hasn't yet bettered it, all-time ranking is noted (e.g., 1st AT, 10:33.3, 1979). For track & field, this seasonal list includes marks made outdoors since Jan. 1 in high school or any other legitimate competition. For swimming, only marks made in high school competition this spring are considered.

For track, times in hundredths are fully-automatically timed and are placed with their corresponding hand-timed values on following basis: 0.24 seconds faster for races shorter than one lap and 0.14 faster for races of one lap. These times, contrary to those involving metric equivalents, are not converted. Thus, automatic times rated ahead of hand times in some cases. Times in longer races are always rounded up to nearest tenth except when hundredth is a zero. For swimming, no distinction is made for fully-auto times. Coaches with additions and/or corrections should call 289-5354 to report them.

Montgomery can't defend 200 crown

South San Francisco's Carl Montgomery, the Central Coast Section athlete with the fleetest pair of feet, won't be around to defend his 200-meter dash title in the CCS meet next week.

But thanks to the generosity of one of his chief competitors, Montgomery still has a shot at the 100-meter championship.

Montgomery still has to finish in the top three in the Region I 100-meter final today to advance to the May 30 CCS meet. The Region IV meet, Saturday at Hartnell College, also sends the first three finishers in each event.

Track & Field

The bulk of the CCS meet's choicest entrants will come from Saturday's Region II meet and Friday's Region III finals, both at Los Gatos High School. The top five finishers in each event from those meets will move on to the CCS.

Montgomery has stayed put as the foremost sprinter in the CCS all season and a double victory in the section 100 and 200 was likely. However, he pulled a thigh muscle in the North Peninsula League meet last week and didn't qualify in Tuesday's trials for either of today's sprints. Terra Nova's Russ Osotio qualified for the finals in both — and then in an unusual and classy gesture, gave up his spot in the 100 final to Montgomery.

Region III begins Friday at 3 p.m. with athletes from the Mt. Hamilton League, the West Valley League and the Santa Teresa League. That includes CCS favorite Mt. Pleasant and competitive Silver Creek.

Region II, at 8 a.m. Saturday, is comprised of the De Anza League, the Santa Clara Valley and the South Peninsula. Powerful Palo Alto is in this one along with Woodside and Menlo-Atherton.

The girls and boys distance events in Regions II and III will be loaded. Kerry Brogan of Los Altos has the top section times in the 880, mile and two-mile and will run into Lynbrook's Tracy Weber in Region II, where the San Carlos girls could dominate. The Region III meet should be a battle between Independence and Ayer.

Top Track & Field, Swimming Marks

Note: The first mark in parentheses following event is current all-time Central Coast State best; the second mark is the tenth best. A number followed by "AT" after a mark refers to that athlete's ranking in the top ten (e.g., 6th AT). If an athlete has a mark from a previous year already in the top ten, and he/she hasn't yet bettered it, all-time ranking is noted (e.g., 1st AT, 10:33.3, 1979). For track & field, this seasonal list includes marks made outdoors since Jan. 1 in high school or any other legitimate competition. For swimming, only marks made in high school competition this spring are considered.

For track, times in hundredths are fully-automatically timed and are placed with their corresponding hand-timed values on following basis: 0.24 seconds faster for races shorter than one lap and 0.14 faster for races of one lap. These times, contrary to those involving metric equivalents, are not converted. Thus, automatic times rated ahead of hand times in some cases. Times in longer races are always rounded up to nearest tenth except when hundredth is a zero. For swimming, no distinction is made for fully-auto times. Coaches with additions and/or corrections should call 289-5354.
