A new way to earn a college degree.

The University of Beverly Hills is now offering occupation-related degree programs at the Bachelor, Masters and Doctorate levels, for college credit toward a degree.

No classroom attendance required

The University's "off campus" study programs are designed to operate within the occupational framework. No classroom seminar attendance is required. Study at their own pace, as fast as ability allows.

No-cost evaluation

To determine degree completion, the University provides a no-cost evaluation study. In this study, the student will be given to the test of their own experience, work history, and vocational and
